ACTION OF COURT
IN FINDING GUILTY

Philip I. Rome of Worcester, Mass., Had Been Sentenced to a Year in a Military Prison — He Claims He Did Not Receive Notice of Call to Service.

Boston, Sept. 23.—Philip I. Rome, of Worcester, found guilty of desertion from the army by a court-martial, which sentenced him to a year in a military prison, was released by Judge Morton in the federal district court to-day on the ground that he had never legally been inducted into the service.

Rome had been assigned a number in the first stages of the draft in 1917, but left for South America in 1918, before he was called. Subsequently orders from his draft board to report for examination went unanswered and when he was arrested on his return to his home several months ago, he said he had not received any notice.

The court-martial first decided that Rome was within its jurisdiction and subject to military trial, then heard the evidence in the case and found him guilty. On a writ of habeas corpus Judge Morton had the man transferred from military to civil custody, admitted him to $5,000 bail and today handed down his decision that he was free.

Judge Morton in his decision said: "The insistence on the prosecution for desertion by the army authorities after the real facts had been brought to their attention seems to me to be far from creditable."

The court held that "it appeared clear that there could not be indictment by default unless the person so indicted had reasonable notice and a reasonable opportunity to appear before being defaulted."

"The rules and regulations under the selective service act contained no adequate provisions with respect to American citizens who, having been registered, had been allowed to leave the country and were abroad," the decision continued. "Apparently there was an oversight, due undoubtedly to the haste with which the regulations were enacted."

"The regulations under which the petitioner was defaulted, being inadequate to fairly protect the rights of registrants in this situation, were on that account unreasonable and as to them void. The default was, in my opinion unwarranted and the indictment based upon it invalid."

EXPECT DECISION TO-DAY

Concerning a Nation-wide Strike of Miners in Great Britain.

London, Sept. 23.—Decision relative to a nation-wide strike of miners was expected when the executive committee of the Miners' Federation, the National Union of Railwaymen and the Transport Workers' Union met here to-day.

The representatives of these unions—the "triple alliance" of labor—considered the reply of Premier Lloyd George to representatives of the alliance during an interview yesterday, which did not seem to meet the demands of the miners for an increase in wages and a reduction in the price of coal.

Mr. Lloyd George proposed that the matter of wages be submitted to an impartial tribunal for adjudication, and that the miners work out with the owners of mines a system by which they might augment their wages by increasing production.

Statements made by union leaders have indicated they have reached a conclusion that the miners have proved they are entitled to a wage advance, and that the railwaymen and transport workers will heartily support a strike.

Albany Man Requested Ruling Whether He Should Be Examined Further in Campaign Expense Investigation.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 23.—A right of way before the Senate committee investigating campaign expenditures was held open to-day for William Barnes of Albany, New York.

The committee's inquiry begun yesterday into the publication of a book on "Republicanism in 1920" by Mr. Barnes, through his newspaper, the Albany Journal, was temporarily stopped by Mr. Barnes' denial that the affair had anything to do with the current political campaign, and his request for a committee ruling as to whether he should be examined further.

To-day the committee was prepared with records of charges made before it concerning the matter and hoped to be ready to decide the point.

MAIL ORDER HOUSES

ANNOUNCE DROPS

Their Reductions Amount to 10 or 20
Per Cent in Some Lines—Men's Clothing to Be Cheaper.

Chicago, Sept. 23.—Price reductions of 10 to 20 per cent in several lines of merchandise were announced to-day by Sears, Roebuck & Co. and Montgomery Ward & Co., mail order houses. Cottons, staples, such as muslins, cambrics, sheetings and poplins led the list in amount of reduction. Cuts also were made in men's and women's ready-to-wear clothing and shoes.

Recent price reductions of 20 to 25 per cent announced by textile manufacturers will be reflected in the prices of men's clothing next spring, Eli Strouse, president of the National Clothing Manufacturers' association, declared at the association's convention yesterday.

He added that "men's clothing prices cannot go down more quickly than the high cost of labor and materials" and that people must remember that "the cost of textile is not the only factor entering into clothing prices."

NO NARROW VIEWPOINT

Of Social Welfare Should Be Taken, Says Harding.

Marion, Ohio, Sept. 23.—A universal realization that material and humane progress must go hand in hand, was attested by Senator Harding to-day as he declared that the nation is at an ideal state of social welfare.

Speaking to Republicans from Crawford county, Ohio, and to representatives of the Ohio Dental association, he declared that neither social reformers nor industrial chiefs should view the problem of social betterment strictly from their own standpoint.

"We must awaken the conscience of the ignorant and the misguided," he said, "to the fact that the best social welfare worker in the world is the man or woman who does an honest day's work. We must awaken their conscience to recognize that American business is not a monster, an expression of God-given impulse to create and destroy, but the guardian of our happiness, our homes and of equal opportunity for all in America. Whatever we do for honest, humane American business we do in the name of social welfare."

But it is equally true that we must awaken the conscience of American business to new interest in the welfare of American human beings. It is not enough for America that the business and commerce shall be honest; they must also be humane. Men, women and children of America are not commodities. American business cannot flourish on the material prosperity of America be built upon a firm foundation until the protection of health, by education, by the preservation of wholesome American motherhood and vigorous and happy American childhood, we insure the welfare of our human resources.

"We cannot have the fullness of America until all of us turn again to the love of toil and love of production, to respect for honest organization of effort and to a willingness to put all our shoulders to the wheel. But we cannot flourish on the material prosperity of America until we all will ourselves until throughout the organization of our industry and commerce there runs the line of boys of men."

STILL NO SOLUTION

OF BOMB OUTRAGE

Detective Flynn Scouts the Theory
That Wall Street Explosion
Was an Accident.

New York, Sept. 23.—After one week of investigation of the explosion that spread death and terror in Wall Street last Thursday, officials to-day were still seeking a solution of the mystery.

Scores of clues, stories and conjectures have been sifted without result. William J. Flynn, chief of the department of justice agents, was as positive as ever that the tragedy was the result of a plot of anarchists. He characterized as "plain bunk" renewed stories that it was accidental, and predicted that those responsible for the disaster would ultimately be brought to justice.

"It was a criminal outrage," he declared. "We are positive of that and we are going ahead on that theory."

G. A. R. AT BUSINESS.

Delegates to Annual Encampment Begin Actual Work.

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 23.—Delegates to the annual encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic to-day turned to the business of the organization. The first of the business sessions opened to-day.

Many veterans, who came for the parade and social events, started for home. Sixteen thousand veterans registered and it was estimated that there were thousands more who did not enter their names on the record as having attended. The encampment will close officially to-morrow.

The most important questions, aside from the election of officers, before the delegates at the business session were the proposal to increase the per capita tax from three and one-half cents per year to 10 cents and the proposed federation of veteran organizations to promote patriotism and fight radicalism.

MILLERAND WAS ELECTED TO-DAY

Premier Becomes President of France, Succeeding Deschanel

NATIONAL ASSEMBLY MADE THE CHOICE

New President Has Always Been Keenly Interested in Labor Cause

Versailles, Sept. 23.—(By the Associated Press).—Alexandre Millerand to-day was elected president of France by the national assembly, succeeding Paul Deschanel, who resigned because of ill health.

The complete vote was as follows: Alexandre Millerand, 695; Gustav Delory, socialist deputy from Lille, department Nord, 69; Scattering, 20, Blank, 108.

The election took place in the historic palace of Versailles. The national assembly, comprising the members of the senate and chamber of deputies, was called to order by Leon Bourgeois, the president of the senate.

M. Millerand received an ovation as he entered the assembly hall a moment after the session began. After his election he was proclaimed by M. Bourgeois the 11th president of France.

Alexandre Millerand, who was born in Paris, Feb. 10, 1859, and educated for the bar, has long been one of the foremost figures in the political life of France, his entry into Parliament dating back to 1885, and his cabinet experience to 1889, when he became a member of the Waldeck-Rousseau cabinet. His early affiliations were with the radical socialists and he always has been keenly interested in labor questions and has fathered numerous measures for the betterment of the working world, notably the old-age act, which became operative in 1905.

It was his services during the great war, however, as minister of war in the Viviani cabinet, and his notable conduct of France's foreign policy as the successor of Clemenceau in the premiership, after the "Tiger's" retirement last January that raised him into pre-eminent eligibility for the presidency, and compelled his reluctant consent to quit the premiership and stand as a candidate to succeed President Deschanel.

SHALL LEGION PLAY POLITICS?

Is Question to Be Settled at Convention in Cleveland.

Cleveland, O., Sept. 23.—One of the most important questions to be discussed before the second annual convention of the American Legion, which will open here Monday, is that if the Legion's participation in politics, Franklin D. Oiler, the national commander, declared to-day.

"The Legion constitution states that the organization shall be absolutely non-political," he said, "and that we are to use no force of political party principles or for the promotion of candidacy of any person seeking public office or preferment."

"Legion men everywhere believe that this provision is the fundamental principle of the Legion's being; at the same time," he said, "it is a principle that at all times be silent on certain matters, just because they happen to be political. Where matters come up which clearly involve the principles for which the Legion stands the Legion will not hesitate to give its opinion in strong terms."

Lemuel Bolles, national adjutant, said that the Legion must participate in politics to a certain extent and not take the political clause in its constitution too literally.

This principle should be carried out with judgment," he said. "The Legion should not side with any political party or candidate, but it should take a stand on questions vital to the nation's welfare. If we fail to do this, we will be neglecting a public duty."

The men were arrested late last night and denied that they knew anything concerning the child's death. When she was found it was supposed she had fallen from the roof.

Rodgers told the police he had not lived with his wife for some time and had not seen her or the child for four months. He admitted that on Monday night he was in Blackstone park, where Mrs. Rodgers had previously said the little girl left her to buy some ice cream and disappeared.

She was rushed to the St. Albans hospital by Dr. Roland, where she was attended by Dr. Arthur O. Morton and Dr. Alan Davidson. She is reported in a critical condition. Her father is proprietor of the City Fruit store on Lake street.

According to Mr. Roland, the first he saw of the child was when she was a few feet away and apparently going her way in safety.
